Supply Chain World Café – Friday, 24-January-2020 - Lunch

Source: canbeedone.co.za

Attendees discuss points of view through dialogue and discussion on challenging supply chain issues. Collectively, we pool our understanding of the supply chain to raise awareness to current topics and events affecting our supply chains and integrate diverse individual perspectives into a collective perspective.

Set the context - Who should be part of the conversation, what themes or questions will be most pertinent?

Create a learning environment - Creative thinking, speaking, and listening.

Explore questions that matter - Knowledge emerges in response to compelling questions. Powerful questions attract collective energy, insight, and action.

Connect diverse perspectives - Meet new people, actively contribute your thinking, and link the essence of your discoveries to ever-widening circles of thought.

Listen together for insights - Sharing, listening, and paying attention to divergent ideas.

Share collective discoveries.
